Girls and Women in Technology Conference to Take Place ECC Compton Center

El Camino College Compton Center is hosting a free “Girls and Women in Technology Conference” from 8:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. on May 6, 2016. Female students and members of the community who are interested in exploring non-traditional careers are invited to attend. Registration, a welcome address and panel discussion will kick-off the conference at 8:30 a.m. in the Gymnasium, followed by a variety of workshops conducted in the Vocational Technology Building. ECC Compton Center is located at 1111 E. Artesia Boulevard, Compton, CA 90221.

The technology conference is designed to introduce women and girls to educational paths and jobs in non-traditional careers that offer high pay, great benefits and job security. ECC Compton Center’s Career and Technical Education (CTE) faculty, along with community agencies, will conduct the workshops. A job and resource fair is also on the day’s agenda.

The workshops will cover information on a variety of career fields. These “hands-on” interactive workshops offer a look into career opportunities in areas such as welding; business; computer technology; heating, ventilation and air conditioning; fashion; commercial music; EMT/fire technology; aerospace fastener manufacturing; machining; and robotics, among others. Information on ECC Compton Center CTE programs, registered apprenticeships, and free job training opportunities will also be provided.

The Girls and Women in Technology Conference sponsors include: ECC Compton Center’s Academic Division 2, Career and Technical Education–Career Pathways; Career Advancement Academy; Air Conditioning and Refrigeration Icebreakers Club; Society of Women Engineers; R.E. Michel Company; and Women in Technology.

To register, contact ECC Compton Center Career and Technical Education at 310-900-1600, extension 2779, or email spittman@elcamino.edu. Participants who pre-register will receive a complimentary t-shirt and lunch.
