

Business 21 Personnel Management

In this course students will gain an understanding of effective utilization of human resources in the business enterprise. Emphasis is on principles of personnel administration, supervisory and leadership techniques, human relations, concepts of motivation, business communication, and laws governing the rights of employers and employees. Effective management of common types of personnel problems will be discussed.