

BUS 55 Advanced Microsoft Office –Integrated Applications

Extending upon the student's basic knowledge of Microsoft Office software applications (including Word, Excel, Access, and Power Point), the course will focus on advanced techniques and integration among these applications, the Internet, and other sources. Students will also learn how office professionals can use electronic communications and information management software effectively.