

Computer Information Systems 3 Introduction to Microcomputer and Software Applications

In this course the student is introduced to the capabilities of the microcomputer using word processing and spreadsheets in a hands-on environment. Operation of the microcomputer as a general purpose tool will be stressed.