ABOUT US

UC Berkeley's Transfer Prep aims to address educational barriers and increase equitable access to resources and information for California Community College interested in transferring to a University of California campus. We do that by providing comprehensive transfer preparation for historically marginalized, underrepresented, and underserved community college students. Our programming includes academic planning, sustained transfer advising, and opportunities to participate in academic enrichment programs. In collaboration with key partners, we provide individualized, student-centered support throughout the transfer application process and enrollment at the university.

BENEFITS

- Intensive 1-1 Academic Advising from a Transfer Specialist
- Intensive Support w/ Transfer Apps
- Selected students can attend TAP Into Cal Trip (3 day, 2 night trip to UC Berkeley)
- Summer Enrichment Program (SEP)
- Webinar Series

ELIGIBILITY

A TAP participant is a student who meets at least two of the following criteria:

- Low-income student
- First-generation college student (meaning that neither parents/guardians have completed a four-year college degree)
- Historically underrepresented in higher education

Enrolled at one of the 69 community colleges designated as a low-sending school by the UC Office of the President.
